

Department of Economics

Staff Seminar Programme 2011/12

Alternate Thursdays at 4.15 pm in Room 1.15 (Richmond Building)

Semester 1

- 20.10.11 Ioannis Chatziantoniou (PhD candidate) – Another macroeconometric model of the UK economy
- 3.11.11 Robert Gausden – A disaggregated approach towards determining the usefulness of an indicator of consumer confidence for the purpose of predicting household consumption expenditure in the UK
- 17.11.11 Renatas Kizys – Do speculative bubbles crowd out international equity flows? Some empirical evidence for South-East Asia
- 1.12.11 George Filis and David Duffy – Stock Market Response to Monetary and Fiscal Policy Shocks: Multi-Country Empirical Evidence
- 15.12.11 Yong Tan (PhD candidate) – Bank profitability and inflation: the case of China
- 19.1.12 David Broadstock (SWUFE, China) – Time varying price-induced technological change in energy demand: Evidence from OECD countries

Semester 2

- 2.2.12 Timotheos Angelidis (University of Peloponnese, Greece) – Dispersion and volatility in stock returns
- 16.2.12 Ian Cooper (London Business School) – Leverage and dividend regimes
- 1.3.12 Don Webber (University of the West of England) – European regional productivity and the importance of national borders
- 15.3.12 Vasco Gabriel (University of Surrey) – Assessing the Fed's reaction function with a Moment Conditions Model Averaging Estimator
- 29.3.12 Miltos Makris (University of Southampton) – Bureaucrats versus Politicians revisited
- 3.5.12 Yoram Bauman (Washington University, USA) – "Normalization" as a Benchmark for Environmental Policy
- 17.5.12 Dawn Craig (University of York) – The role of economics in NICE decision making