EAP within the HE Garden:
Cross Pollination between Disciplines, Departments, Research & Teaching

Call for Papers

The idea of 'cross pollination' is to bring in themes and speakers from disciplines not always immediately associated with BALEAP, but which, in view of our relatively broad remit, are of importance, interest and value to EAP practitioners.

We invite abstracts of up to 300 words from those researching in the EAP field or with pedagogically-based experience which may contribute to our understanding of the following areas:

Academic Literacies	Second Language Acquisition
Cross-Cultural Studies	Teacher Training and Competencies
Discourse Analysis	Tests and Testing
eLearning and Technology	The Internationalization of HE
English for Specific Academic Purposes	Writing for Home Students
Materials Design

We invite:

- * Papers (40 minutes, including 10 minutes for questions)
- * Workshops (these could be double sessions of 80 minutes)
- * Poster presentations

Tim Johns Fund: In memory of Tim Johns, who was an active teacher and researcher in corpus studies and other aspects of IT in EAP contexts, BALEAP are offering an award of up to £500 (to cover Conference fees and associated expenses) to a presenter who would otherwise be unable to attend the Conference. Should you wish to be considered for this award, your proposed presentation should be on 'IT in an EAP context'. Please add TIM JOHNS FUND after your presentation title when submitting an abstract.

Deadline for abstracts: December 20th, 2010
